DRUMS—ITALIAN FRONTIER BREAK OUT

Whitaker Reveals Truth About Italy

Duce Collector Of Deserts, Headaches

Italians Have Genius For Non-Productive Conquests

The Bulletin herewith presents the ninth article in John T. Whitaker's series "The Truth About Italy," by the Fascist regime, he will not be regarded. Therefore he writes from "beyond the Italian frontier" without fear of censorship or reprisal.—EDITOR.

BEYOND THE ITALIAN FRONTIER.—The Fascists are the only people in modern history who have made war pay.

That was true when Bismarck was uniting the empire and it is true under Hitler.

The investment in tanks and Stukas has brought a bonanza yield in Austrian iron, Czech lignite and Rumanian oil as well as in the foodstuffs, raw materials, equipment and rolling stock looted from Norway, the Lowlands and France.

The Italians, by contrast, have a genius for non-productive conquest. Mussolini has been a collector of deserts and headaches.

As a journalist turned politician, the Fascist dictator has a passion for power politics and an abhorrence of economics.

He has moved Italy increasingly toward bankruptcy with every new conquest, and though the annexation of Ethiopia proved gratifying to Italian self-esteem, the country simply could not afford it.

Defeat would have cost less than that brief five-year victory, which British imperial troops have now snatched away.

Ethiopian Balance Sheet

Shows Big Outlay

Various figures—none of them trustworthy—have been cited by the Fascists for the initial outlay. Certainly the military operation cost not less than seven billion lire (with the lire at five cents, this would be $50 million dollars) but the conquest of Ethiopia was but a fraction of the total expenditure.

Count Thaon di Revel, the Italian finance minister, estimated that in five years Italy spent $15 billion lire (two and a quarter billion dollars) on Ethiopia.

Fighting Still In Progress Around Libyan Base

Says Report

CAIRO, May 2.—(AP)—A British counter-attack in one sector of Tobruk's outer defenses cost Axis attackers 11 tanks and many casualties and fighting still is in progress in other sectors around that Libyan port, the Middle East command announced today.

Throughout yesterday the enemy continued to attack the outer defenses of Tobruk, the Axis commander said, indicating the tank charge took place a day ago. Patrol action also continued in the area of Salam, over the frontier in Egypt, about 80 miles from Tobruk, it said.

R.A.F. planes did not intervene in the fighting around Tobruk and Axis fighters did not intervene in the fighting around Salam, the Axis commander said.

In addition to protecting the frontier, the R.A.F. is also maintaining communications and troop concentrations yesterday, the Axis commander said.

A vessel was not seen in the harbor, the Axis commander said.

Behind, near Benghazi, was subjected to another assault and near Arcadia, in the Tobruk area, the R.A.F. command said, indicating the Axis forces were hit, causing casualties among Italians and Germans.

LONDON, May 2.—(CP)—The British garrison at Tobruk, Libya, 80 miles west of the Egyptian frontier, is still holding out against Axis armor, authoritative quarters said today.

It was known only that the original attack was made at night.

Hitler Still Has To Lick Him

Adolf Hitler may march to victories all over the continent of Europe, but until he meets—and beats—this fellow and many thousands more like him he will achieve no lasting triumph in his war with the British Empire. A hollow tree trunk makes a snug shelter for this defender of the British Isles.

EFFORTS by the new pro-Fascist Iraq government to prevent powerful British forces entering the country are part of a wider movement to create suspicion of British power in the minds of the Turks. There is little reason to doubt that Franz von Papen, German ambassador to Turkey, has been the moving spirit in this action.

Before the last World War, completed these vitals under Turkish rule. Their freedom from Axis rule and the influence of the British army which fought the Turks in Mesopotamia, now included in Iraq.

The subsequent grant of independence to Iraq, which had been promised to Great Britain, was likewise due to British action. The British Empire, now again, is being put in the right path in Iraq, but it is not yet clear whether this is a genuine or a feigned move.

Willkie Answers Lindbergh's Views On U. S. Isolationism

Magazine Article Replies To Defeatism Shown By Flier

NEW YORK, May 2.—(UPI)—Wendell Willkie has given an answer to Charles Lindbergh's isolationist views.

Mr. Willkie's reply is carried in Collier's magazine and is entitled "Americans, Stop Being Afraid." The 1940 Republican presidential candidate says that the United States should guarantee delivery to Britain of ships, planes and war material which, as he puts it, "will destroy Hitler."

Referring to Lindbergh's demand for a "practical plan" for defeating the Axis, Willkie says: "Furnish to Britain today and tomorrow and the next day, for her desperate need, ships—the ships in our docks, the ships in our coastwise trade—until it hurts, the impounded ships of other nations, the ships we are building."

"Give to her destroyers, and if necessary, see that those ships, loaded with ever-increasing production of American factories and farms, deliver their cargoes safely to the ports of western and

Yugoslav Ships Ordered To U.S., British Ports

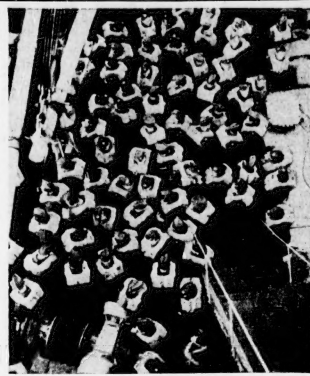

LONDON, May 2.—(UPI)—The Royal Yugoslav government Thursday advised all Yugoslav ships to ignore instructions emanating from conquered Yugoslavia.

All ships, the statement said, "are under orders of the (Yugoslav) government, which directs those at sea to British or United States ports."

The Yugoslav government has now established itself in the Middle East.

southern England. This England will survive."

"Then," Willkie says, "in 1942 and 1943, when the combined airplane and armament production of 200 million free people in England, Canada, Australia and the United States gave to Britain an efficient, assured and over-whelming superiority in the air, the enslaved people of France and Belgium and Holland and Norway and all of the conquered countries—perhaps even the enslaved people of Germany—will begin to arise and this monstrous menace to the liberties of free men everywhere will be eradicated utterly."

Lifeboat Drill On British Troopship

Part of Serbian Treasure Falls Into Nazi Hands

BERLIN, May 2.—(UPI)—Nazi spokesmen claimed today part of the "Serbian National Treasure," estimated at 13,000,000 dinars (about $3,000,000 at pre-war exchange), fell into German hands in a raid on a monastery at Ostrog, near the Albanian frontier.

It was claimed secret police and soldiers found bank notes and gold hidden in lofts, among church robes and in other places, partly in vaults.

Courtesy Call

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(UPI)—Canadian High Commissioner Malcolm MacDonald paid what is described as a courtesy call Thursday on Secretary of State Hull. However, it was understood that various aspects of the international situation were discussed.

By DANIEL DE LUCA

ISTANBUL, May 2.—(AP)—Remnants of the Albanian campaign against the Italian invasion were the Greek mountain troops, awakened by an advance post are attacked by a full battalion of Italian planes at dawn.

The first move of the battle, like an exploding package of fire-crackers, awakened reporters near the mountain village of Labova. After a couple of minutes there is dead silence.

The Greek counter-attack that afternoon gains ground, not only of the Epirus had tried to retreat, and as their comrades went forward they are the bodies of the 32 sprawled in a gruesome jumble with 143 Italians.

A single advance in the night's general headquarters, communicate covers the whole incident.

Interviewing Gen. Alexander Papagos on his arrival in Albania, we finish the interview in a bathroom shelter, against the background of exploding bombs.

What the Greeks need, the general says over and over, are American planes. They never came.

Traversing a stilled road 15 miles beyond Klina, we come to the horrible canyon of death where a makeshift Greek firing line finally stopped the desperate Italian offensive.

The machine in 30 yards wide and strewn with hundreds of bodies. These men died a week ago.

A blunt British major, visiting the line near Triana, sums up the Greeks: "...bags of guts and a withering talent for gunners."

It is a long, lean, thin man with a scrawny, athletic build, a man with a game gait and most remarkable of all, as he said, he is a plane man.

Across the Italian lines, dropping bombs with his eyes, he says: "It wasn't long before this young Captain Dimitri P. Palioukas became a legend on the front. At night, at night, he would scribble messages, tied to rocks for him to toss at the Italians. There were 10 files and one usable plane, and by common consent the Dervish got it."

He would dodge the big Italian patrols and weave through the snow-covered canyons, his head lolling out in the wind. The Dervish took care of Italian propaganda. Once when the Fascist broadcast a story that the Greeks had no food, the Dervish took a loaf of bread and carved on the crust: "Have you enough to eat? There's more where this came from!"

One day he didn't come back. We heard later he was in a ditch, behind the Italian line.

U. S. RESPONDS TO APPEAL FOR WAR AIRCRAFT

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP)—Jesse H. Jones announced Thursday "a substantial number" of airplanes from airline and private owners will be turned over to the government within the next three days for allocation to Britain and other countries under the lend-lease program.

Jones, secretary of commerce, gave no figures on the planes or the types of planes involved. He made public a letter to President Roosevelt saying:

"I have your letter of the 29th requesting that I arrange to secure from the air transport industry and from private owners a substantial number of planes of transport type for allocation by you to the democracies under the Lend-Lease Act."

"I am pleased to advise that we have contacted the principal airline officials and owners of private planes, and without exception they have indicated a willingness to comply with your request."

"A substantial number of planes will be delivered within the next three days."

German Raid On Merseyside Fades After Big Start

LONDON, May 2.—(UPI)—A German bombing raid on the Merseyside dock area of Liverpool that started out at blitz tempo last night faded out before serious damage was done, when Nazi bases across the channel apparently were blanketed by fog.

Some damage was done in the Merseyside by the first wave of bombers, but the government said reports did not indicate casualties would be large.

Scattered attacks on other areas were reported, and Royal Air Force night fighters were credited with downing one bomber.

Germans Receive Favorable Reports On Canadian Camps

LONDON, May 2.—(UPI)—Richard Law, financial secretary to the war office, told the House of Commons today he understood the German government had received "favorable" reports on a prisoners' camp in Canada, of which the Germans had complained, and that it had ordered that certain improvements be carried out in Polish camps.

British officer prisoners were transferred to the camp in Poland in retaliation for the alleged bad conditions in the Canadian camp.

France Is Petitioning Germany for Reduction In Daily Assessment

Government of Marshal Petain Also Asks for Partial Relaxation of Inter-Zone Boundary Line

By RALPH HEINZEN

VICHY, May 2.—(UP)—France was reported in reliable quarters today to have petitioned Germany for a reduction of the 400,000,000 franc (about $8,000,000) daily assessment for upkeep of the Nazi army of occupation.

The government of Marshal Philippe Petain, in a note reportedly sent to Berlin, was said to have asked also for the least partial relaxation of the inter-zone boundary line to permit an exchange of food supplies between the occupied and unoccupied areas.

The government was reported to have taken the initiative when it appeared that additional funds in Paris between Vice-Premier Jean Francis Dorian and Otto Abetz, Nazi "envoy" in Paris, were being delivered indefinitely because of the latter's illness.

Berlin has not yet replied, informants said, but may submit counter-proposals that would dwell with a reported German effort to restore Franco-German relations, disrupted after the deposition of Pierre Laval as vice premier last December.

In requesting reduction of the unpaid charges, the government was said to have pointed out that it was set at a specified sum although the number of Nazi troops in France varied.

With many German divisions shifted to the Balkans and Libya, the Nazi army of occupation in France was said to be smaller than at any time in recent months. It has been estimated at times to total 60 divisions, about 800,000 men.

The government was said to have emphasized that the treasury was faced with enormous difficulties in meeting the payments and was able to carry out that provision of the armistice only by inflation and the period increase in the legal limit of treasury borrowings from the Bank of France.

The note to Berlin pointed out, it was said, also that when the armistice was signed last June 24, it was expected by both sides that the war would end rapidly and the charges thus would not continue for an extended period.

Since the armistice, however, France has had to pay Germany $2,000,000,000 in francs in two and one-half times the normal annual French budget.

The annual cost of upkeep of the occupation forces was said to have been only slightly more than half of the figure. Bank of France transactions reportedly show a credit of more than $6,000,000,000 in francs in the German government's bank.

The government reportedly will ask Germany to cut the charge from 400,000,000 to 180,000,000 francs a day.

70 HOUSES ARE DESTROYED BY ONE NEW BOMB

LONDON, May 2.—(CP)—Seventy houses in London were destroyed and 120 others damaged by one of Britain's new "beautiful" bombs, the air ministry news service said last night.

Quoting reports from the German front on the effect of the new bomb, the service said that after one raid "complete confusion obtained and the usual shooting off of damaged property could not be done."

"One was amazed at the great destruction caused by that bomb," the report said. "The explosion and must have been fatal."

The bomb which fell near the post office struck the whole quarter, with the exception of the post office, into a heap of ruins.

Quoting reports from the German front, the post office was smashed and the chief office was badly damaged. Houses 300 and even 500 yards from where the bomb fell had windows framed doors and parts of roofs blown off. Seventy houses were destroyed, 20 of them being just heaps of bricks after the bomb hit. Altogether 200 houses were damaged—broken windows, doors, roofs, chimneys, etc.—and caused fire 200 to 300 yards high.

The government was said to have emphasized that the treasury was faced with enormous difficulties in meeting the payments and was able to carry out that provision of the armistice only by inflation and the period increase in the legal limit of treasury borrowings from the Bank of France.

Britain's "Deputy Prime Minister"

LORD BEAVERBROOK, above, Canadian-born publisher who achieved unusual record as Britain's wartime publisher, was today named minister without portfolio in charge of production of tanks, guns and virtually all other war materials. London critics believe his new post makes him, in effect, deputy prime minister, with Premier Winston Churchill left free from the home front to attend to matters more directly affecting the actual prosecution of the war.

ROYAL NAVY'S FEAT ACHIEVES "IMPOSSIBLE"

Italian fleet. One Greek army had captured German motorized columns were sweeping down from the north, held back only by the sea.

From what I saw as I came down from Greece and joined the waiting troops on Jellie, a and watched the astonishing mechanics of the embarkation, how the navy didn't stop to ask the odds against itself just went ahead and cleared up the job.

I talked with many soldiers during the night crossing and their morale was amazingly high. They're on their way to fight one more, Australians, Canadians, New Zealanders, and Englishmen all said they were eager to get at it again.

(St. John apparently referred to Canadian troops in the "Imperial Force" for no troops from the Canadian army have seen action in Greece or Africa.)

(Speaking in the House of Commons April 1, before a House of Commons debate on the Greek situation, Lord Beaverbrook said that since the fall of France there had been no suggestion that Canadian troops were being sent to Greece.)

There are many Canadians in the Royal Air Force squadrons of which helped the Greeks against the Axis forces.)

There was great hilarity aboard my ship one night when a Berlin broadcast announced that the British had captured the Greek island of Crete.

"I guess the old navy has answered that one," said one troupe-headed officer as he swept his hand toward the sea lane dotted with ships packed with tens of thousands of Imperial troops.

The men who stroke waters in Egypt and who are ready to fight again. When they boarded ship in Greece they loaded tons of rifles, food, optical instruments, machine guns, anti-aircraft guns, ammunition and any other stores they could carry.

Many heavy equipment was destroyed to prevent its falling into German hands.

There were hundreds of Greek soldiers, stragglers and guerrillas about the island. They were the last of the Imperial troops the night out of Crete.

BACON PRICE TO PRODUCERS IS INCREASED

Board Pays Dollar More—Check Exports to U.S.

OTTAWA, May 2.—(CP)—By an increase in price to Canadian producers the Bacon Board today sought to check the flow of hogs to the United States and cut down consumption in the domestic market, to ensure fulfillment of bacon agreement obligations to the United Kingdom.

The board will pay an extra $1 per 100 pounds to packers for bacon to be exported to Britain, making the price for Grade A No. 1 Withinsides $17.10 per 100 pounds.

The new price goes into effect on products put into case for export from hogs purchased on and after May 2.

Two purposes

Bacon Board officials said following conferences Thursday that the increased price had two purposes:

1.—To reduce exports to the United States, where higher hog values are attracting Canadian supplies.

2.—To increase prices in the domestic market and thus cut down consumption. Present pork prices were described as "low."

Since the United States government announced it proposed to hold hog prices there for $9 mark to encourage production, there has been the expectation that Canadian exports over the border would increase.

Officials said the actual total of United States imports of Canadian hog products were not large at present month. The cumulative effect of continued export to the United States would duplicate, at least Canadian supplies eventually, especially with a further increase in value south of the border.

As was said

GAIN IN VALUES

Hon. J. G. Taggart, Saskatchewan agriculture minister and bacon chairman, said last night he could not say whether the additional $1 per 100 pounds would be carried by the United Kingdom or Canada.

He said, however, that in this respect would be made later by federal authorities.

Ottawa officials revealed that when the agreement for shipping an estimated $25,000,000 pounds of Canadian bacon to the United Kingdom was made by Agriculture Minister Gardiner last year, it was made clear an increase in United States prices was almost certain and a corresponding gain in Canadian values could be expected.

An understanding was reached that when Canadian values were increased, the agreement on prices between the Dominion and the United Kingdom would be reviewed, even if the full shipment had not been completed.

Ottawa estimates were that something over 200,000,000 pounds of Canadian bacon would be shipped to the United Kingdom under the agreement. If all those shipments remain to be purchased by packers, the additional cost will run about $2,000,000.

"LEVELLING PRICES"

Because of the variation in existing market prices, to be followed by a "levelling process" when the additional board price is effective, officials said it was almost impossible to estimate the additional return to the producer across Canada.

They added they could not estimate, either, what increase could be expected in the price of hog products on the retail market in Canada, but the price of the increase paid to packers was to raise the domestic price.

Board board officials said there was the hope that the initial $25,000,000-pound bacon order from the United Kingdom would be

R.A.F. BLASTS NAZI SUB BASE IN DAY ATTACK

Power Station, Barracks Destroyed Direct Hits in Den Heider Raid

LONDON, May 2.—(CP)—British bombers made a heavy daylight attack yesterday on the German submarine base at Den Heider, Holland, the Air Ministry said today.

A communication said direct hits were scored on the power station, barracks and other buildings at Den Heider.

The docks at Brest were bombed last night.

The Brest raid was the 13th since the Royal Air Force discovered the 28,000-ton German battleship Tirpitz at Brest on May 11, 1941.

Seaharbour and Goebenau held up there.

In other attacks yesterday, the Air Ministry said, British bombers hit oil storage tanks at Clarendon, the Netherlands, the Netherlands island of Texel and apparently damaged a 5,000-ton oil tanker off the Netherlands coast.

After bombing targets at Den Heider and on Texel island, the Bomber Command moved on and strafed German troops at both places.

filled before the end of the agreement in the fall and that further substantial shipments would be made.

Lowest price payable under the new schedule will be $13.75 per 100 pounds for grade B No. 2 bacon, weighing 28-30 pounds a side. The price increase applies to various export cuts in addition to within 10 pounds.

NAZI ATTACK BRITISH SHIPS CARRYING ARMY

WITH THE BRITISH FLEET AT ALEXANDRIA, May 1.—(Dr. Taylor)—(AP)—A squadron of British cruisers and destroyers dropped 8,000 Australian troops from Greece today after beating off persistent dive-bombing attacks in which German planes dropped thousand-pound bombs.

The Australians set up Bree (rapid-fire) guns on the decks of their ships and used their rifles to aid in repelling the bombers. Some rear mines heavily rocked the ships, the troops reported.

An officer of one of the cruisers said:

"The Australians were dead tired after long weeks of fighting in Greece but threw themselves on the decks to open fire against the dive-bombers with rifles, machine guns and anything they could lay their hands on."

"Meanwhile we give the Nazis a heavy dose of lead firing all naval guns."

Teachers Are Not Forgetful: Just Thinkin'

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin: TWO HILLS, Alta., May 2.—Students at the local high school received a big surprise this week when Principal Stanley Clarke ordered a clean-up job on the school grounds. Students, amazed, obedient and diligent, were registered on the faces of the students since the regular Arbor Day cleanup is another week away.

But explanations cleared everything up. No, the teachers hadn't forgotten, rather they were showing sound judgment.

For some reason or other, grass on the grounds is getting greener earlier than in previous years so that by the time Arbor day arrived, the usual method of burning yellow grass and weeds would be lost. So the rake and hoe army will have to be brought into use.

But it means that Arbor day labor will be absent, so it's not too bad after all.

WARS COST A LOT, PROVIDED A HEADACHE

Italy Has Received No Return On Conquests

Ethiopia, Spain And Albania,
Even France, Paid Nothing

He was not specific, but I think this figure included the seven billion lire for the war itself.

If that is so, Italy has spent the equivalent of four annual budgets on one of the world's biggest and costliest adventures.

The British will be grateful for the 168 million dollars that went into roads and they will conserve something of the 430 million dollars invested in private firms, bus lines, airports and harbor facilities.

As for the Italians, there was NO RETURN WHATSOEVER on the investment.

• Mineral Wealth

But a Myth

Last year, as in the first year of the conquest, Ethiopia imported from Italy roughly 10 times its total exports.

The dream of mineral resources proved a propaganda myth.

Even General Tedesco, the acting minister of colonies, admitted that the effort to find minerals was only "partly successful" and he held out the hope of coffee, cotton, lumber, wheat, livestock and hides instead of gold, nickel, platinum, copper and petroleum.

But the trade figures show that not even these were sent to the Motherland.

Mussolini talked of moving down a million Italians a year to the new empire. No more than 200 families had gone down before Mussolini's precipitate entry into Africa was the loss of the empire inevitable.

In short, for an expenditure equal to four annual budgets, Italy got nothing except the title of "emperor" for King Vittorio Emanuele.

• Return In Spain

Was Nothing

The adventure in Spain proved equally empty. The Italians received nothing but the prostration of Gen. Francisco Franco.

This shows a direct expenditure in planes, armaments and material of 255 million dollars, beyond the cost of transporting, feeding and paying the "volunteers" who were herded together and shipped away.

The value of Italy in Italy is a figure in purely military terms, but the 255 million dollars something ought to be added for what these troops might have done in a home production capacity.

Whatever the total of the investment, the return was almost nil.

Efforts at Italian economic penetration have failed before Spanish aluminum, German competition and the outbreak of war which brought the British blockade.

The mercury dropped below zero in Italy already, and now it is below zero in Spain and other minor theatres.

Italy hoped for virtual control of high-grade oil and iron, and that Franco would allow Italy to refine and ship oil refined under Italian license.

The Spaniards preferred to "see their own oil and oil" and it is abroad for oil which they needed just as badly as the Italians.

Spain gave Italy only 100,000 tons of olive oil in 1938 and less than 50,000 tons in 1939 and has no trade with Italy and will never collect the whole of the oil needed for the Spanish peninsula that yielded the Spaniards nothing but destruction and poverty.

• In a Moment

Of Optimism

The conquest of Albania cost a mere five million dollars.

There the Italians hoped to develop petroleum production, estimating in moments of optimism that Albania might provide a quarter of Italy's annual petroleum needs.

But this was unbecomingly premature, possibly only by a system of automatic self-destruction which came nothing for coal.

To the initial capital expenditure and the cost of petroleum exploitation, it would have been necessary to add the cost of two divisions of Italian troops necessary to hold the population from revolt.

• From France,

Nothing

What the invasion of the frontier region of France cost I do not know.

Whatever the sum, there has been no return on the investment.

The Italians hoped for much, but Italy and failed to keep even that. French Marseilles, however, actually brought Italy's share in the war.

French shares in the Vercors would have enabled Mussolini, in theory, to handle transportation between the Motherland and Sicily with no further drain on Italy's gold.

2ND DIVISION OF CANADIANS IN READINESS

Hard War Training Rounds Men Into "Tough Rangers"

By ROSS MUNRO
SOMERHED IN ENGLAND

May 2.—(CP)—The hammer-forged maneuvers through the "war zone" troops of the Canadian Corps have been turned into tough regulars of British defense forces.

Every few weeks a division and several thousand additional corps troops go on a three or four-day exercise to drill in counter-attack against invasion attempts. In the past several months the 1st Division made the main "attack" on the coast three times, the 2nd Division twice.

WELL PREPARED
Now, with detailed knowledge of terrain and roads, they are vastly better prepared to fight than the English, French and fields became battle grounds.

Around the camps they joke about the home guards knowing every bog and rabbit hole in the area, but there are some parts of the country where Canadians can give the H.G. a tip on roads and fighting areas.

Steady increase and improvement in war equipment used by the Canadians is one of the most noticeable features of these maneuvers.

On the last maneuver the 2nd Division moved nearly 100 miles in the advance, following a detailed plan of action through the various phases of the "battle". Major-General "Tommy" Blarney was a critical spectator.

At that time there were big air raids on the area, where the field operations were held. On two consecutive nights as convoys moved ahead and troops piled up in blankets to sleep for a few hours by the hundreds. Tastes of guns and explosions lit the sky. The drone of German machines and the high whine of British anti-aircraft were heard for hours.

At the middle of the action, British anti-aircraft fire caught a raider and it whistled down, it crashed on the side of a hill, killing its crew.

An hour later a night fighter spotted another No. 2 plane and shattered it with machine gun fire. The British planes picked up two airmen who escaped from the wreckage. One of the crew who was killed was an Italian.

But the German job was training to meet the Canadian army forces and they carried on as the air war raged.

The Royal Canadian Air Force is always on hand for the British and the Canadian reconnaissance planes fly in the sky.

The Canadians remain plucky and cheerful in the face of the German attacks. They know the Canadians of the last war, after hospitalization and a warm welcome.

Sir Walter Citrine, Trades Union leader, in the same broadcast which was also directed to The Netherlands, said that under President Roosevelt United States industry is cooperating with the organized Trade Union movement to give British workers a May Day message to show off the oppression of their Nazi leaders," the British Broadcasting Corporation reported.

CANUCKS ARE PRAISED FOR FLYING FEAT

Successfully Pilot Damaged Plane Across Stretch Of Ocean

By DOUGLAS AMARON
LONDON, May 2.—(CP)—A dramatic story of a flight by two Canadians who successfully piloted a damaged giant flying boat across the Atlantic for more than six hours was told Thursday night by the ministry of aircraft production.

The feat of Pilot Lt. J. Fleming D.F.C. of Calgary, and Pilot J. McKelvie, of Toronto, member of the Royal Air Force, in bringing a Canair PBY flying boat to England after being damaged in a crash on May 1, was called by the ministry "One of the greatest feats of flying."

THROWN INTO DIVE

The plane carrying the two pilots, two flight engineers, a radio operator and a mechanic, was damaged in a crash on May 1, when it was thrown into a dive by a German fighter.

"Immediately the aircraft began to flutter because of the steep angle they were meeting the flow of air. The machine spun down almost 18,000 feet in only 800 feet above sea level."

The pilots did their utmost to retain stability during the dive but pressure on the aircraft was so great one of them broke off. This was the worst moment for the pilots because when the aircraft broke apart the balance of the plane was restored.

The ministry's story continued: "When the flier started, Fleming told the radio operator to send out an SOS. This, however, was never received because the aircraft frequently turned out the fixed wing the aerial had been carried away with the aircraft. The pilot of Fleming and his heroic crew seemed desperate."

REGAIN CONTROL

"In efforts to regain control they found it necessary to jettison smoke flares, spare parts and fuel. It included a 440 outfit which was the personal property of one of the flight engineers."

"Just when everyone believed the Catalina was lost, the pilot recovered control. Although they were hours distant from home the captain, confident of his ability to reach the coast, refused to send another SOS."

"Instead, from a trailing aerial, he simply signaled both aircraft. The signal was received but was believed to be a hoax. It was possible that a great machine like the Catalina, weighing about 15 tons, could be flying without any lateral control."

The machine now was flying due south. To remain air it had to keep going straight ahead as use of the rudder without ailerons is to put the machine into a fatal spin.

FORTITUDE MANIFESTED

"Fleming and McKelvie were compelled to fly side by side, using all their strength on the controls to keep the machine from spinning. It did not take them long to realize that they were not alone. They looked at a map. Fortunately Fleming had memorized the coast and with McKelvie, he was able to find the machine's position until it was on the correct course."

"Only fortitude and endurance enabled the pilots to carry on. To add to their troubles, as they approached the British coast they flew into a storm. Despite this they succeeded in landing safely in the water of a British harbor."

"But they still had some miles to land and the sea was rough. This amazing pair, fearing that taking over the waves would mean the end of the machine, and themselves, actually took off again and flew skimming just above the surface three miles before the morning."

The ministry added that "since this astonishing flight" Fleming has flown the Catalina and McKelvie twice.

Expansion Sugar Bect Industry In Dominion Is Felt

KINGSTON, Jamaica, May 2.—(CP)—Effect on the British West Indies of the rapid expansion of the beet sugar industry in Canada is one of the major topics expected to be discussed at a conference here next month of delegates from nearly all the sugar producing countries in the Caribbean.

Another point to be aired is the limitation of some Caribbean interests to import sugar from Haiti and Santo Domingo instead of from the British West Indies because the protection is purchased from the United Kingdom by the two islands in connection with this matter. R. L. Kirkwood, managing director of the British West Indies Sugar Company, has come to Canada.

Miners Join In May Day Parade

COLEMAN, May 2.—(CP)—Miners from five towns near here today celebrated May Day by holding a parade and by listening to address on unity and unionism delivered by officials of district R. United Mine Workers of America. Tom Upstill, local M.L.A. for Prince Rupert, also gave a speech. Miners were present from Blainville, Fernie, Maple Leaf, Minto, B.C., and Fernie.

HANSON WANTS WHEAT BOARD DETAILS TOLD

OTTAWA, May 2.—(CP)—Conservative Leader Hanson Thursday night gave notice in the House of Commons that he would demand that Trade Minister Macdonald give details of the Canadian wheat board's operations.

There was no valid reason why the information should not be given, he said. He said he had been asked to give the House, Mr. Hanson said, the board's cash holdings of wheat and its obligations in the bank and in the market.

His notice was given during consideration in committee of the $25,000,000 vote asked by agriculture minister to finance the 1941-42 wheat acreage reduction plan.

Mr. Gardiner said he would ask the chairman to rule out discussion while an agricultural estimate was under consideration of a matter that was entirely within the jurisdiction of the trade and commerce department.

"If that is a threat I may tell the minister he will not get his estimate through," Mr. Hanson declared.

"The threat is coming from the other side of the House," Mr. Gardiner retorted. He said there would be ample opportunity to discuss the wheat board when the agricultural estimates were being considered.

The $25,000,000 item was discussed at considerable length before the House sat on Friday.

So far from the plan itself are the two recently discovered rooms of a duplex that an observer on the planet saw a six-inch telescope to see them.

Saskatoon Woman Is Sentenced On Robbery Charge

Liner Sails

JERSEY CITY, N.J., May 2.—(CP)—The liner Silesia, led up since Saturday by a strike, sailed Thursday night for London a few hours after shipping agents in New York declared they had been asked to ship all vessels possible to the port.

The liner Silesia, which is owned by German troops in Portugal, is expected to arrive in London on May 10.

FARMER FINDS BRITISH FOOD SUPPLY AMPLE

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP)—Thomas D. Campbell, one of the world's leading wheat growers, returned from Europe Thursday saying the British food supply was ample.

Campbell said he had several letters from British farmers, and that on agricultural products, and that the British food supply was ample.

Campbell, who lives in Hamilton, Mont., said there seems to be plenty of food in Britain, although some food, such as sugar, meat, and other fruits are being rationed.

2 Canadian Air Force Men Are Hurt In Crash

OTTAWA, May 2.—(CP)—Two Royal Canadian Air Force men were injured, one critically, when their training plane crashed on a hillside on the Ottawa-Montreal highway a few miles east of here Thursday.

The plane was on a routine navigation flight from St. Eugene, Ont., to the base at Rockcliffe air station near Ottawa.

The men were temporary sergeant-investigator R. B. Byrne, whose home is at Dallas, Texas, and Lt. A. B. Thomson of Three Rivers, Que.

Remains Of Nazi Bomber—Well-Armored Combat Tank For U. S.—“Queen’s Messengers” Feed Coventry After Raid

A twisted propeller, a cogwheel and a tire from the landing gear are all that remain of one German bombing plane that took part in the blitz raid on London on the night of April 16. Although wrecks of German planes are old stuff now in Britain, a sentry is on duty to keep souvenir hunters away.

The Chrysler Corporation's No. 1 M-3 medium 28-ton tank which, after thorough testing last week, has been presented to the United States Army at no cost. It is the first of 685 tanks which will cost Uncle Sam $31,000,000. The formidable giant of steel carries a 75MM cannon, LEFT, a 37MM. cannon, CENTRE, and machine-guns in the top-most turret.

Coventry, victim of all-out air-raid earlier in the war, was again visited by Nazi raiders in severe air-raid. To relieve the stricken town the government sent a special convoy of food trucks to feed the populace. The convoy sent was a "queen's messengers" convoy, donated by the Queen. Citizens of Coventry are shown at one of the trucks.

Although only two-and-a-half years old, Irene Heinbock knows what the inside of a Nazi concentration camp looks like. She was in one for three weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Heinbock. Irene is shown in her father's arms as they arrived in Brooklyn. Her father was president of the Jewish society of Maccabees. They escaped from Belgium.

Where Skill, Experience Count. An experienced craftsman works on the nose cowling of a Harvard trainer in a Canadian plant. This special cowling is of Canadian design. The warning in the background has reference to the layer of pure aluminum which covers the metal alloy and protects it from corrosion.

Britain On Guard

While a British sergeant stands on guard with fixed bayonet on a promontory on the English coast, other British troops take up their positions below him during manoeuvres.

Air Marshal William (Hilly) Hobson is pictured seated in front in a small seaplane as he and other officials toured the Douglas Aircraft plant near Los Angeles recently. Air Marshal Bishop is visiting all of the important airplane factories in the United States to gather first-hand information on American plane power and production.

Many vessels built by Canada's 20,000 shipyard workers already are in service on the convoy routes or in patrol duty. A large number of corvettes and minesweepers have been launched, and many more are on the ways for launching before June 1st. Preliminary work is being carried out for the construction of twenty 5,000-ton merchant ships. These 416-foot steel freighters are especially designed for convoy work. Twelve will be built in yards along the St. Lawrence, and eight on the Pacific Coast. The cargo ship program has been placed under the administration of a new government-owned company, Wartime Merchant Shipping Limited. The remainder of the $130,000,000 ship construction program is under the supervision of the shipbuilding branch of the department of munitions and supply.

Women In The War

Roll out the barrels. These girls have taken over the jobs of draymen called to the colors, and are shown rolling barrels of the amber cheer from a brewery to their waiting truck.

An anti-tank gun crew at Fort Benning, Georgia, is shown wearing the new dual purpose helmets which are being tested by the infantry board of the United States Army. The helmet is in two sections—a conventional steel shell which comes low over the neck to afford greater protection and an inner liner composed for the most part of fibre.

The Australian forces were warmly welcomed when they arrived to reinforce the defences of Malaya, South Pacific stronghold. Native boys act as unofficial outrunners.

CIVIL SERVANT IS HONORED ON HIS RETIREMENT

provincial youth training activities in the province and of provincial junior boys and girls club activities. Mr. J. Elliott was presented recently with a handsome gold watch, suitably engraved by his fellow workers in the provincial agriculture department before leaving the service.
